

Three Dimensional Printing Guidelines

This document establishes guidelines for staff-assisted printing from the 3-D printer. Library users may make items using a design that is uploaded from a digital computer file and have library staff print it. This technology is growing and the Library is pleased to offer the opportunity to create and innovate to our patrons.

The 3-D printer may be used only for lawful purposes. Examples of content that will not be produced includes, but is not limited to:

- Content or objects that are illegal
- Content or objects that may be construed as having intent to harm
- Content or objects that may infringe upon the intellectual property rights of a third party
- Content or objects that are inappropriate for the library environment
- Content or objects that are regulated or require a license to use or carry

The Bay County Library System (BCLS) has the right to approve or deny any and all 3-D print requests.

By submitting content or objects, the patron agrees to assume all responsibility for, and shall hold the BCLS harmless in, all matters related to patented, trademarked, or copyrighted materials. The BCLS is not responsible for any damage, loss, or security of data arising from the use of its computers, printers or network.
